Devil's Den

Devil's Den is one of North America's most prehistoric places. It is an underground spring inside a dry cave in Central Florida. The remains of many extinct animals from the Pleistocene Age (2 million - 10,000 years ago) were discovered at Devil's Den, including the bones of early man, dating back to 75,000 B.C.

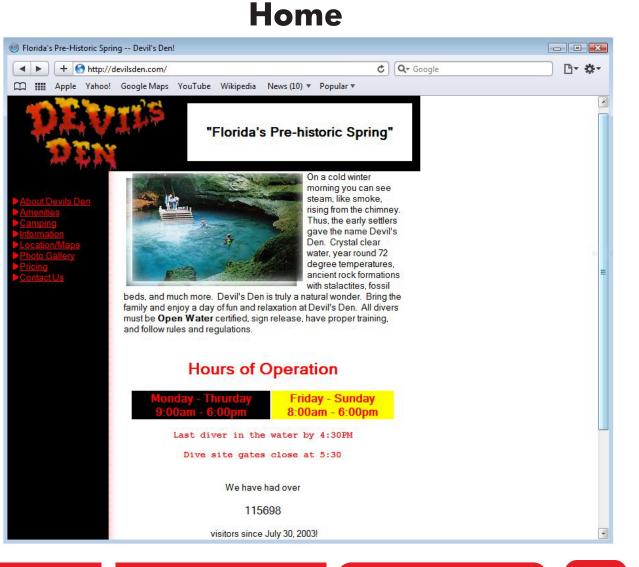

The pleasant year-around temperature of 72 degrees in the Den allows comfortable diving, winter or summer. On cold winter mornings you can see steam, like smoke, rising from the cave's chimney. Hence, the early settlers called the place Devil's Den.

Advantages

- Interesting Logo
- Narrative should remain on first page
- Navigation takes user to different pages in less than three clicks

Disadvantages

- Needs catchy heading
- Navigation links too dark
- Main picture should be changed and enlarged
- Too much white space
- Counter unnecessary

04

HPR Enterprises

Nov. 2, 2009

Advantages

• The information is easy to understand

Disadvantages

- The page needs to be livelier
- Omit the bold words "Devil Den". It is distracting
- Title should be within content section

Content

05

Nov. 2, 2009

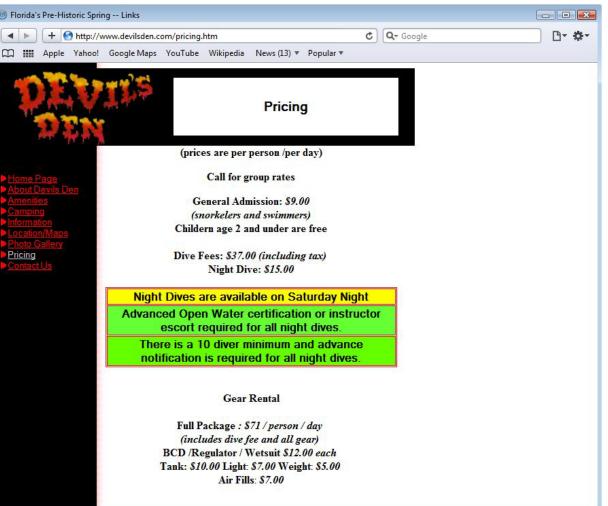

Advantages

• List everything in a thorough manner

Disadvantages

- The colors for the table do not fit well with the overall feel of the site
- The text is centered/better off left aligned
- Needs better organization

Prices

06

Nov. 2, 2009

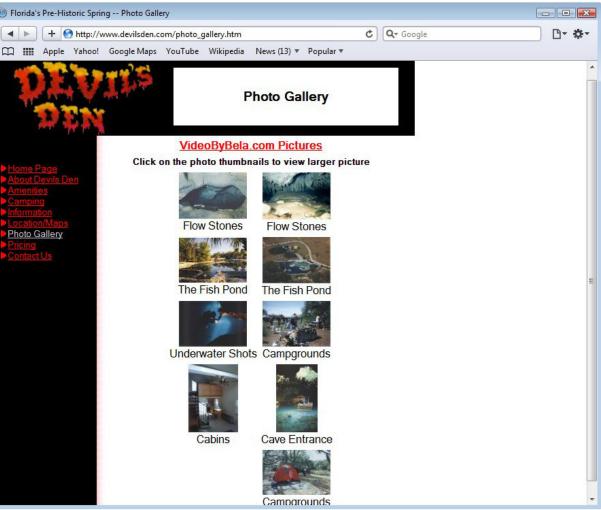

Advantages

• No Advantages on this page

Disadvantages

- Photos not all the same size
- Photos are not described or organized well
- User has to go to a complete separate page to view pictures
- Some links to pictures do not work
- Pictures are small and grainy

Photo Gallery

HPR Enterprises

Advantages

• Lists appropriate info

Disadvantages

- The map is not userfriendly and unclear
- Text would be better left aligned

Project Goals/Redesign Opportunities

Project Goals

- Websites atmosphere should interest the target audience.
- Needs to look less home made and more professional.
- The target resolution should be 1028×768 .
- Pictures are important to this particular audience. Main picture and gallery pictures should be improved, larger/better presented.
- Counter uneccessary
- A picture of the mascot located outside of the spring would look good on the main page

Redesign Opportunities

- More structured organization
- Better design and structure of the site
- Creating a more inviting and appealing site for the user
- Making sure all links work so the user can get to destination in a timely manner

Client Requirements/Restraints

- Must use red when redesigning the site
- Must use new pictures for the Photo Gallery
- Navigation must be simple and user-friendly
- Must Load quickly for users with slower internet connections
- Must be easy to manage
- Must use all text already available on the website but can also add text that will better help enhance the site

User Definition

Jason is an experienced diver who heard about Devil's Den through friends and wants to visit in the near future. Jason's first interaction with Devil's Den will be through its website. He wants to find out prices, the different amenities, hours of operation and get a glimpse of what the spring looks like. In order for Jason to successfully complete his desired tasks he needs a website that runs smoothly and allows him to get from Point A to Point B in a fast, efficient way.

Dan is a family man who is planning his annual family vacation. This year he wants to take his family camping and he had visited Devil's Den in the past with a few buddies from work. Dan's reasoning for visiting the website is to find out camping prices. He also wants to know the rules and regulations and if Devil's den rents out equipment like flotation devices and snorkeling masks. Dan needs a website that works properly and has user-friendly navigation to help him easily find the answers to his questions.

Define User

Navigation/Hierarchy/Structure

Navigation

The navigation needs to be consistent throughout the site. The navigation also must be simple and organized so that the user won't become frustrated when trying to go to each page. The user should be able to get from Point A to Point B in three clicks or less.

Hierarchy

Structure

The structure of site consists of the five page types. An example of what one page type consists of is the Content Page which contains Amenities, About Us, Rules and Contact Us.
